

Brittany Smith
Director of Safety

As Director of Safety, Brittany has the respect and buy-in from all levels of the company for the practices and ideas he implements and oversees. One core principle drives her work: do the right thing. Accomplishing this objective requires safety be the most critical and intuitive part of Paramount's daily responsibilities.

Brittany is hands on, and is adept at offering substantive advice and practical help in solving problems, not just point them out. She is well respected, particular by those in the field, as they know he sincerely cares about their safety and well-being. She is quick to give positive feedback, as well as provide practical knowledge of prevalent trades/work processes because he has invested the time to learn how each department operates.